MEMORANDUM OF DECISION

David L. Snow Jr. appeals from an order modifying the divorce judgment entered in the District Court (Belfast, Worth, J.). He argues that the court erred and abused its discretion when it denied his request to impute additional income to Amber L. Stanhope; modified his visitation rights; and denied his request to split the guardian ad litem's (GAL) fee equally between the parties. Contrary to Snow's contentions, the court did not (1) err when it determined that Stanhope, who works full-time during the school year as an education technician, is not voluntarily unemployed; nor did it abuse its discretion when it declined to impute additional income to Stanhope, who already has a second job; (2) err or abuse its discretion when it found that a substantial change in circumstances had occurred since the divorce judgment and that it was in the best interest of the children to modify the visitation order to resemble the visitation arrangement the parties had adopted; or (3) abuse its discretion when it ordered Snow, who requested the appointment of the GAL and earns nearly double the income of Stanhope, to pay the entirety of the GAL fee. See Harshman v. Harshman, 2017 ME 60, ¶ 13,
